

D'Youville
COLLEGE

D'Youville College's Educational Leadership Doctoral Program and Center for Professional Studies
present

THE COMMON CORE STANDARDS: Hope, Hype, and High Stakes

November 14, 2013

6 - 7:30 p.m.

D'Youville College, Blue Lounge

This interactive program will consist of a panel of distinguished educators who will explore the assumptions and consequences related to the Common Core Standards which were adopted by New York State in 2010.

Among the questions the panel will address include:

How were these standards developed?

What impact are they having on students and parents?

Where will they lead us as teachers and administrators?

What are the implications for teaching and learning?

Panelists' presentations will be followed by an audience question and answer period.

Admission is free. Light refreshments will be served.

RSVP required by phone or e-mail.

Center for Professional Studies

640 Ellicott Street, Buffalo, NY 14203

716.829.8394

professionalstudies@dyc.edu